JAMES C GIBBS

Posted 01 Jan 2019 by hamroots

James C, Gibbs, was born ten miles northeast of Knoxville, Tennessee, and was the sixth hild in a family of eight children. Tennessee was the home of both his father and mother, John H. and Susan (Susannah McDaniel) Gibbs. Rache (Doyle) Gibbs, James; grandmother, made her home with his family the later part of her life. From her Will, we know she loved them and apprecitated her son, and his growing family. James' father, a few years after the death of his mother, moved his family and their possessions, in the late winter of 1851 to Pririe Towship, Madison County, Arkansas, making their home on the banks of the Brush Creek.

As a young man, James C, Gibbs enlisted in the Confederate Army on October 26, 1861 at Fayetteville, Washington County, Arkansas. He was assigned to Company D, 1st Battalion (Stirman;s 1st Arkansas Calvary Regiment), Confederate States of America. Two battles Jams recalled to his family bothered him more than the others, Wilson Creek and Tea Ridge, both lying on the boundary of Missouri and Arkansas. Bodies lay stretched over the landscape, men either dead or wounded, from both sides Agony on all faces, especially on the men of Stirman's Cpmpany, who had arrived too late to change the outcome of the hostilities of the Wilson Creek and Pea Ridge. Friends, brothers, cousins, even fathers and sons, facing each other in fierce battles over different beliefs. No one really wanted this.

When the battles has ended with victories or the Union troops, a truce was called. The men of both sides walked together among the dead and wounded, gathering up the menm carrying them them to their graves. With the unpleasnat job completed, the Confederate soldiers would retreat sounth into Arkansas,and the northern troops would make their way back into Missouri.

James continued to do his part in the Civil War, taking furlough twice that we know of. Once because of a bout with rheumatism and once when wounded. Family history tells us James took a bullet in the leg which buried itself deep. The bullet was never removed and he carried that reminder of thos aweful years (1861 to 1865) to his grave in Loco, Oklahoma.

James, Johnny, or Jim (he was called by all three), was honorably discharged a private and surrendered near Fayetteville, Arkansas at the close of the war. At that time he was serving with a company in the 10th Witts, Arkansas Cavalry, Confederate States of Americe, under the command of Levingston.

With the war over, James settled down to raise a family. Sometime in 1862 or 1863 (this writer speculates), James married seventeen year old Sarah Lorene Hixon, whose family lived in Brush Creek Township, Washington County, Arkansas. Because of land dealings in Knox County, Tennessee, we know the families knew each other before arriving in Arkansas. The Gibbs family moved directly to Arkansas while the Hixon family spent several years in Kentucky. James and Sarah gave birth to their first child in Dade County, Missouri, the 29th of January 1864. Therefore Sarah's family must have moved there before the end of the Civil War. They farmed and had three more children before James decided to move to Texas in 1871.

William A. McKinzie, retired merchant and farmer, and ex-postmaster of Durham, Ark., was born in Sevier County, Tenn., in 1826. His parents, Charles and Sarah (Ellis) McKinzie, were born, reared and married in South Carolina, and about 1818 located in Tennessee, where they resided until 1847, then going to Georgia, and after living in Murray County eleven years they moved to Comanche County, Tex., where the father was killed by the Indians in 1863. The mother's death occurred in Georgia, leaving a family of five children: John (residing in Texas), Nancy (deceased), James, William A. and Kenneth (who was killed in a battle with the Indians in Comanche County, Tex., in 1858 or 1859). After the mother's death the father married Stacy Murray, who bore him one child that died in infancy. William A. McKinzie was reared in Tennessee, but moved with his parents to Georgia, where he learned the wagon and blacksmith's trade, and also attended school. He was married at the age of twenty-six, and located on a part of the home place, where he lived until about 1856, when he came to Arkansas. After residing near Fayetteville for about a year, he came to Washington County, where he worked at his trade and farmed until 1878, and then engaged in the mercantile business at Durham, being appointed postmaster of the town the same year, and held the position until 1883. Dear Karen,
I don't know what is going on but qwest.net is a server and I am using wilham@. On your response to my mail you used qqwest and it sshould be only one Q. Hopefully that is the problem.

Rainy today thank goodness as fires are out of hand all over the State of Colorado. Miller Bugs not as bad last night. Every morning for a week I get a call at 9:30 AM, and no one there, so I guess someone wants me up if I happen to be asleep. I also have a Fax mechine now which I am using with telephone only. Call first to make sure I am here to receive it, altho I think I have it on all the time just not sure.

Love,

Ephraim Hixson cleared the fertile bottom lands of North Chickamauga Creek with the help of his slaves and soon established a successful farm. In the year 1833 he was elected Justice of the Peace and held that office for many years. In 1840 he was granted an entry of 240 acres by the State of Tennessee and in 1842 he received a grant of 480 acres on Walden's Ridge at the headwaters of North Chickamauga Creek. When he died in 1855 he owned several thousand acres and eleven slaves.

From this point the record of the Hixson Family was compiled by Rev. James E. Hixson, of Soddy. He gathered the following names and data from family Bibles and from cemetery inscriptions. Dr. Hixson also assisted materially in the preparation of the first part of the record.

Son of Joseph and Susannah Hixson

Ephraim Hixson, Jr., was born in Greene County, October 14, 1797. He died in Hamilton County, December 25, 1855. He was a grandson of Joseph and Susannah Hixson of Greene County and was probably the son of their son, Ephraim. Ephraim, Jr., moved to Bledsoe County when he was a small boy with his parents. We know that he was not the son of William Hixson, whose sons are named. We know that he was not the son of Timothy Stringfield Hixson, whose daughter he married. Of the three remaining Hixsons who moved to Bledsoe County, Andrew seems to have left no record; Joseph has no record. There can be no doubt that Ephraim, Jr., was the son of Ephraim, Sr.

Ephraim Jr's., marriage to his cousin Margeret Hixson, daughter of Timothy Stringfield Hixson, took place in Bledsoe County in 1817. She was born in Greene County, June 19, 1799. She died October 9, 1888. They had eleven children.

Can anyone help me join the above, some of whom have been collected from Social Security files, into families?

I have details of many more families who have lived in Tennessee, but whose ancestors have been traced to other places, so they have not been included here

If each Hickson / Hixson / Hixon / Higson researcher would like to purchase a birth, marriage or death certificate, I would be delighted to host a central database on this website. See Certificates. We would be able to achieve a lot more, cheaply, than each person could individually.

HAMILTON COUNTY PIONEERS - THE HIXSON FAMILY
by John Wilson
posted March 10, 2007 http://www.chattanoogan.com/articles/article_101498.asp

Since the late 1820s, when many Indians were still in this vicinity, the land around North Chickamauga Creek in the shadow of Walden's Ridge has been the domain of the Hixsons. Ephraim Hixson Jr. and Houston Hixson settled in the vicinity of the creek. Timothy and William Hixson were also here at the time of the 1830 census. In the 1836 and 1837 tax lists of Hamilton County, Houston and Ephraim Hixson were neighbors, while Alexander, Jackson, Henry and William Hixson were in another settlement.

Alexander Hixson was still here in 1850 with his wife, Nancy, and children Elizabeth, John, Margaret, Robert and Ephraim. Henry Hixson and his wife, Elizabeth, stayed in Hamilton County. Henry was born about 1813. He is listed as a son of Houston Hixson and grandson of Ephraim Hixson. Henry's children included Henry, James, John, David, Nancy who married James L. Smith, McKinney who married Mary "Molly" Rawlston in 1873, Franklin who married Virginia Rawlston, William and Clarissa J. McKinney Hixson died in 1923 at age 73, leaving a daughter, Malissa Lovelady, and sons, James D., John M. and Noah O.
The Hixsons had come down from New Jersey through Maryland and Virginia to upper East Tennessee. Joseph Hixson and his wife, Susannah, are listed in the census of Frederick County, Md., in the revolutionary year of 1776. They later settled on the south side of the Nolichucky River in Greene County, Tenn. In 1786, Joseph Hixson paid 50 shillings for 100 acres at Greene County. Joseph, like a number of future Hamilton County settlers, got his first look at the lush territory during an expedition against the Indians. He took part in the 1788 raid against the Chickamaugas under

She left "one Negro woman, and two Negro children, one bedstead and furniture, one stove, one table, one loom, 2 corner cupboards and furniture, 2 head of horses, five head of cattle, eight head of sheep, thirty head of hogs, 1 desk, 1 chest, 2 spinning wheels, 3 ovens, 4 pots, one skillet, one clock and case, two bar share ploughs, 2 shovel ploughs, five hoes, 3 axes, one looking glass, one woman's saddle, one hand saw and one cross cut saw."

Some of the children of Joseph Hixson joined the families of Rawlings, Kennedy, Hughes and other of their neighbors in migrating from Greene County to Bledsoe and Hamilton counties. His first wife died when their youngest twins were only a year old, leaving him with some 10 children to tend. He had eight more children by the second wife, who was part Indian. Timothys' last child was born when he was 72.

I live in the yellow house next door to the Hixson Community Center, which I understand was once a high school and then junior high school. The tax records of my home date back to 1825. I would really like to learn some history about the home. What it was used for? Any really old pictures of it? History of the families that have lived there. It's a quirky home and I

Please be advised that there are numerous errors in these family sketches on the some of the Rogers and the Hixson families. John Wilson said that he was not able to go back and make the necessary corrections.

Yes I have went back and revised some of his articles, many have a few issues. I have noticed he got his information from people like zella armstrong and James W. Livingood. i had to go back to the original context from godspeed books for some of the information. Would love to chat more. Chris Yes, I know all about Zella Armstrong and some of her incorrect data which has taken me years to get corrected. I have been researching for 48 years now going on 49. I am well aware of the mistakes for my Hixson and Rogers families in print and on the internet.

I currently run a store, Chatt-R-Bug, which is in the original Ploeger building beside the railroad tracks. We are looking to have further information on this site and preserve history. Many people bring me in historical writings and pieces that have a meaning to their lives basically they want to share history. If anyone has information and/or would like to get together on how we can further archive Hixson we would love to do so.

Lucinda Hixon and Timothy Hixon were my great-great grandparents on my maternal grandmothers side. Spring Mill park was a big part of my childhood. My mother always said my grandmother had American Indian blood in her but when I research Lucinda's roots I'm not finding it. Was she adopted into the Davis family? Maybe something I'm missing and haven't researched in depth enough. I would appreciate any information or comments. Thank you

Four million cases occur annually, and more than 90 percent of those involve children less than 15 years of age, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention in Atlanta.

But chicken pox has a dark side — one that many parents, including the Everharts, never suspected: In extremely rare cases, chicken pox can kill. Cara was one of about 90 victims who succumb to chicken pox each year in the United States.

Among the population most at risk of developing serious complications from chicken pox are those with lowered immunity, such as people undergoing chemotherapy.

"As we look back on it, for some reason her immune system was in the same state as a kid going through chemo," Ray Everhart said.

The year before, she was hospitalized for pneumonia complicated by asthma.

"There was a month last summer she was cough-free, but the rest of the time she always had this hoarse cough since that pneumonia," Ray Everhart said.

"She was out of school for three weeks," said Linda Everhart. "The year before that she had a blood disease called ITP (idiopathic thrombocytopenic purpura). Her platelet count went extremely low to where she was like a hemophiliac."

With that in mind, the parents braced themselves for an abnormal episode when they noticed Cara's spots.

On that Saturday in Hays, Cara's rash looked normal. By Sunday, the child had blistered, as expected, but there was a difference. Hers were not filled with clear fluid like those on her sister. Cara's blisters looked "rusty."

The Everharts were told later that internal bleeding had started.

On Monday morning, Cara, after a sleepless night, started complaining of back aches. By Tuesday, the internal pain spread and her respiration rate jumped.

By Wednesday evening, she had developed a rattling in her lungs and her pediatrician ordered her to the hospital, where she stayed over night.

On Thursday, March 3, she was on her way by ambulance to HCA Wesley Medical Center in Wichita.

Overseeing Cara's treatment was Dr. Curtis Pickert, pediatric critical care specialist and medical director of pediatric intensive care at Wesley.

"Being in intensive care, I see the more complicated affects of chicken pox," Pickert said. "Chicken pox can take such an aggressive path with children. It can involve every organ of the body — inflammation of the brain, the lungs, liver, secondarily the kidneys, gastrointestinal track. It can be more than just a skin infection."

That's what the Everharts soon

Harley Ratcliff (b. 1821) and Martha Ann Morgan portrait

hamroots
Feb 16, 2019

It looks like we are cousins and cousins help each other. Sorry to be so long in getting back to you, but illness has kept off my computer and working on my family tree.. I would be happy to share the photo I have. If you would send your e-mail address I"ll send the photo to you if you would keep it private. I am not good on the computer in many things and sending pictures e-mail or text is the only way I know how.

State Street Building To Be Torn Down

Work was scheduled to get underway today on the demolition of the building at 205 E. State street, formerly occupied by Sanitary Plumbing.

Lloyd Hulbert, who purchased the building three months ago, said today that he has no immediate plans for the site except to tear down the old building, which, he said, was his main objective in buying it.

He said he expects to have the lot cleared and levelled after the building is down but has no set plans for further use of the lot.

Vaccination For Dogs Tomorrow

Another mass vaccination for rabies will be administered to Redlands dogs tomorrow between 10 a.m. and noon, and 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. at Lugonia avenue and Washington street, Humane Officer Cecil Pattison said today.

This will be the fourth of six vaccination sessions to be given in Redlands this summer under the supervision of Dr. Charles Irvin.

Officer Pattison said that over 800 dogs have been vaccinated this summer under the local program.

During the eight years the program has been carried out, there has not been a single case of rabies reported to police in Redlands, he said.

On July 24, shots will be given at Sylvan Park and on the final day, July 31, dogs will be vaccinated again at the Lugonia and

Hears Discussion On Proposed Order

Yucaipa Farm Bureau center heard a program on the proposed egg marketing order for Southern California last night at the Yucaipa elementary school.

Speakers were Bud Batcheller, hatcheryman and president of the Southern California egg council, and Roland Hartman, editor of Pacific Poultryman.

Mr. Batcheller favored the order as a means for moving surplus eggs to other outlets. He noted that production controls are not part of the plan.

Mr. Hartman expressed reservations as to the possible aid to poultrymen from the proposed order. He said he did not feel that the existence of a marketing order plan would have helped the egg producer this past year.

William L. Rose is chairman of the Farm Bureau center.

Police Fire Tear Gas Into Home as Yucaipa Man Slays Wife, Self

Two former Yucaipa residents were found shot to death yesterday in the cramped bathroom of a weathered house north of the Yucaipa Blvd.—Highway 99 intersection, east of Redlands.

Redlands substation sheriff's deputies and Redlands police officers answered a frantic plea for help. Arriving at the scene they heard a man had shot his wife and was holed up in the house.

Shooting tear gas into the house, they entered and found David E. Patrick, [illegible], slumped over the bathtub and Mrs. Dorothy Young, also known as Mrs. Dorothy Young Patrick, lying beside the tub. Braced in the tub was a .22 caliber automatic rifle pointed at Patrick's throat.

Sheriff's Chief of Detectives L. L. Ebben said "Patrick apparently shot his wife and then himself."

LEAVES WILL

Sheriff Frank Bland, who was at the scene, found a note in Patrick's back trouser pocket. Bland said the note was a will leaving Patrick's possessions to his two children by a previous marriage.

Paul Wilson, Sheriff's deputy, said the shooting apparently was the result of an argument which apparently started in Hinkley Friday afternoon. Wilson said he was told Patrick worked in the town and Friday night warned Mrs. Patrick and a daughter, Carol, not to travel to Yucaipa.

Deputies Willard Farquhar and Lyle Lane — first to arrive on the scene — heard reports the man was holed up in the house after shooting his wife.

"Hearing that, we shot tear gas into the house," Farquhar said.

In the house at the time of the shooting was Mrs. Patrick's daughter, Carol Monroe, 12, and Donald Monroe, 11, and her mother, Mrs. Alma L. Gibbs who owns the house.

They left Hinkley and arrived at the Gibbs home at 8 p.m. About 8:30 Friday night Patrick arrived at the house at which time the girl and her mother were threatened, Wilson said.

Patrick was [illegible]. The grandmother told Wilson she saw Patrick's car yesterday morning about 1:30 a.m. and found him asleep on a [illegible] behind the garage.

GIRL HEARD SCREAM

Carol told him, Wilson said, that about 10 or 10:15 a.m. the mother went to the bathroom. She heard the door crashing down and her mother scream. Then she said there was one gun blast —a [illegible] ran out of the house and yelled at Patrick "Don't hurt my mother!"

He yelled back, "I'm going to kill myself," the girl said.

She then ran to a church next

WEATHERED HOUSE SCENE OF DOUBLE DEATH—The house above, north of Highway 99 and Yucaipa Blvd., east of Redlands, was the scene of a double tragedy yesterday. David E. Patrick, 32, apparently shot his wife, Dorothy, 33, to death with a shotgun and then took his own life. The tragedy occurred in a cramped bathroom located right of drainpipe (above) between the photographer and spectator. (Sun-Telegram photo) door to get help. There was another blast, she said.

The Rev. John Carter and Thomas Sebley, of Yucaipa, who were at the Gateway Baptist Mission, next to the house, ran over to help.

The grandmother, outside on the driveway appealed to the men to "get her medicine." Going into the house, the two men got the medicine and the grandmother's purse prior to arrival of officers.

However, he said, neither of them went to the back of the house and did not know if Patrick was alive at that time.

Patrick's children, Michael, 2, and Dennis, 5, are reported to be with Mr. and Mrs. David E. Patrick, Sr., 12709 3rd St., Yucaipa.

Mrs. Patrick also had another child, David Osterblad, 15, who was left in Hinkley Friday night.

Chief Dept. Coroner Edward P. Doyle, investigating for Coroner R. E. Williams, said James Robert Young, 35163 Ave. B, Yucaipa, said he had been married to the woman. However, he added, Young said they had been separated 15 months.

Young told the investigator he had never been notified of a divorce. However, there could have have been a Mexican divorce and a Patrick marriage without him being notified. Doyle said Young

One-on-One with the Latest Recruit Eliminated from the Red Team – Worst Cooks in America (http://blog.foodnetwork.com/fn-dish/2014/02/benji-brown-worst-cooks-in-america-exit-interview/)

On Worst Cooks in America (http://www.foodnetwork.com/shows/worst-cooks-in-america.html), 14 recruits have the opportunity of a lifetime: to be mentored by two renowned chefs, Anne Burrell and Bobby Flay. They arrive at Boot Camp with some of the worst skills imaginable in the kitchen, but if they're able to last seven weeks of competition without getting cut, they get the chance to be named the best of the worst and win $25,000 in prize money. Plus their mentor gets bragging rights — and this year Anne is fighting to win her title back after losing it to Bobby last season. Unfortunately, every week two recruits, one from each team, must be eliminated.

Every Monday night, FN Dish has the exclusive interviews with the eliminated recruits from the Red Team and the Blue Team.

Finding themselves on a farm for their next Skill Drill challenge, the remaining 12 recruits discovered they would be really learning where milk comes from. The challenge had them milking cows and making mozzarella from scratch for their grilled cheese sandwiches. Benji managed to both burn his sandwich and undercook his bacon, which Anne wasn't quite happy about. In the Main Dish challenge, which required the recruits to make a chicken breast dish, Benji struggled from the beginning. He literally butchered his chicken and confused and reversed cooking steps in his mind, resulting in a dish that Anne thought was both overcooked and undercooked. In the end Benji was sent home, as Anne thought cooking was not his strong suit at all.

What scared you the most about the make-it-from-scratch challenge? Was it the milking or the cooking and why?
Actually, the cooking. I mean, milking a cow is something I've never done before, but at the same time I felt it was something that was easy to grasp.

It seemed like you found your comfort zone making grilled cheese. But you still had some problems. Why do you think?
Going into the grilled cheese challenge I was really excited because it was something that I'm familiar with, but there were just a lot of different elements that were put into it that I wasn't used to. I think that I should have cooked the bacon a little bit longer after I burned the first batch and threw it away. I would have made sure the butter and mustard reached the edge a bit more. And I wouldn't have burned the bread.

What was the hardest thing for you about the French cooking challenge: understanding what Anne wanted or the cooking?
The cooking messed me up. Anne makes it look so easy. You kind of have this false sense of confidence after you're done seeing the demo; so coming into it your head's blown up just a little bit. You're like, "Oh, I saw it get done, and I know how it needs to be done." But as time progresses, the time crunch makes it really stressful.

What happened that got you mixed up? You put your potatoes in the sauce. What threw you off?
It kind of started from the beginning. I think I was just disheartened that I cut the chicken wrong. I bounced back a little bit, but by the time I was going to cut that onion, it was downhill from there. I don't know why I can't grasp cutting an onion, but it was something that I wasn't able to accomplish here. So when I get home I'll get a 12-pound bag of onions and I'll cut every last one. I was kind of disheartened the whole way through. I just never seemed to get anything done properly. It was kind of like kicking yourself over and over again.

Anne said that even though your time ended here that there's potential for you elsewhere. Do you think you'll be back to cooking again?
Yeah, I mean not right away. I'm almost 30 and I'm getting older and I need to be healthier. I felt like this was a good way to learn to cook and smarten up on something I don't know anything about while broadening my horizons, saving money and becoming healthier. It's definitely something I will pick back up — it might not be tomorrow or next week. I just want to step away from cooking for a little bit because this was a lot very quickly.

What's the No. 1 thing you learned from your coach, Anne?
I learned how to hold a knife properly — the small stuff that I didn't know anything about. I peeled an apple and a potato for the first time. And I've never even used a peeler before. But what I'm taking away from that is far deeper.

What do you take away from doing the show?
Everybody that was involved in this whole process really wanted us to succeed. I think that's the thing that made me the most happy. It wasn't just a TV show. Everybody wanted us to learn, to grow, to accomplish what our goals were. I mean, the people were genuine and truly cared for what we were trying to do and were helping us every step of the way.

Who do you think on your team has the potential to make it the farthest?
I think Jamie is going to make it. He's showing the most growth and he has the drive that is going to catapult him to the end, and if not the end then very far in this competition. Jamie is like a sponge. It's very interesting watching him work because you can see from his facial reactions that he's picking up on different things. It's kind of like going into a vault and he can open the door whenever he wants to. Jamie has a lot of potential, and everyone is just now seeing the beginning of it all.

Hello,
Just heard back from Diane. She can do the Wednesday, May 7th. She would like to meet at the Marie Calendars where we met before. Just let us know a time. If you need directions or an address let me know.

There is only one little wrinkle. I have jury duty on Monday, May 5th. It should not be a problem, but there is the outside chance that I could get hung up for an extra day or two. Why don't we plan for the 7th and if it becomes a problem I will let you know. You could always meet with Diane and then maybe we could meet on your way out of town the next week. Will that work for you?

Looking forward to seeing you.
Love, Gayle

Grass fire near Colorado Springs could be precursor to another dangerous fire season

Google Survey FAQ (http://gazette.com/google-survey-faq)

While many sections of the Colorado mountains continue to get pummeled with snow, dry and windy conditions in El Paso County have begun to bring a glimpse of what the 2014 wildfire season could be.

The first substantial blaze struck the Pikes Peak region Wednesday night as almost 100 acres burned in a grass fire in the southeast part of the county. Seven local fire districts responded to the blaze that ignited near Drennan and Milne roads about 8:30 p.m.

As firefighters brought the blaze under control in less than two hours, snow began to fall near Monarch Pass, Buena Vista, Summit County and other areas to the west. Some mountain regions saw double-digit figures of snowfall overnight with Monarch Mountain ski area getting 10 inches and Crested Butte reporting 14 inches. While a winter storm warning remained in the mountains, a red-flag warning continued in the southeastern part of the state.

On Thursday, the National Weather Service kept the red-flag warning in effect for Pueblo County and areas further south.

The contrast in weather conditions illustrates a pattern that has been prevalent in the state for the past 10 years, National Weather Service meteorologist Tom Magnuson said. According to Magnuson, heavy snow in early spring is crucial to taming conditions that could send area firefighters scrambling in early summer to keep fire under control.

Magnuson looked at recent observations for the Pikes Peak region and at predictions for the rest of March and early April and expressed concern.

March is usually Colorado Springs' snowiest month with an average snowfall of 8.1 inches. This year, however, the city has only seen 2.8 inches of the wet, white stuff this month with only four full days remaining in March.

"We've hardly had anything, so it's already beginning to dry out," Magnuson said. "The weather pattern is not real favorable."

The meteorologist from the weather service's Pueblo office said that over the past decade the pattern has been consistent. In years that rain and snow has been plentiful in the summer, fall and winter, dry springs have quickly dried out brush and timber that grew with the added moisture. Magnuson said all that does is create more fuels to burn.

"It just seems you can't win out here," he said.

A spokesman for the Ellicott Fire Department said that high winds played a factor in the spread of Wednesday night's blaze. Some residents had to evacuate. Information about the evacuations was not available Thursday morning.

According to Magnuson, April and May typically come with increased storms in Colorado. But if those storms hit elsewhere in the state like they did Wednesday night, the Pikes Peak region will typically get strong winds that add to dangerous, dry circumstances. Those dry conditions led to the Waldo Canyon fire in 2012 and the Black Forest fire in 2013. More than 18,000 acres of forest burned during the Wald Canyon blaze and 14,000 burned in northern El Paso County in the 2013 fire.

Weather service forecasters expect a slight chance of precipitation through Thursday in El Paso and Teller counties, but the rain and snow will likely not be enough to make an impact. Thursday's high is expected to reach the mid 50s in Colorado Springs with winds around 15 to 20 mph.

Breezy conditions are expected to continue through the weekend and into early next week with no sign of precipitation expected through Wednesday.

Frederick Evangelical Lutheran Church - the cemetery is located behind this church. You can walk beside the church on the "right side", back behind and the stones will be found to the "left" against the stone wall. There are 29 gravestones total that we could find. (although one of them could not be photographed due to construction) Luckily could photograph the balance, but some pictures could have been better if not for the current construction going on. All transcriptions and photographs were taken August 17, 2007. (if readable)

Judy Bagwell The James Joseph Cook that I am looking for was born July 11, 1952. His parents were Eugene and Martha Cook. I understand that he may also have/had a sister and brother, but I am not sure. I am trying to verify if he is living or dead, if he truly has siblings - if so what are their names/DOB, if he is married, has children, what part of the country he is in, etc. Any help would be greatly appreciated.
